

JEFFERSON'S LIFE ACHIEVEMENTS.

By Gen. John C. Black at the Opera House Last Evening.

In His Boyhood and Youth and Manhood—Of the People and for Their Interests—A Statesman, Diplomat and Benefactor of the Human Race.

JEFFERSON'S ANNIVERSARY.

The distinguished soldier and statesman, Gen. John C. Black, delivered an address upon the life and character of Thomas Jefferson, at the Opera House here, on last Monday evening, under the auspices of the Jeffersonian Club of Ottawa. A large audience of the business and professional men and their ladies were present. Messrs. John F. Reed, Wm. Osman, W. W. Taylor, Jas. H. Eckels, Wm. J. Dawell, V. B. Weeks, J. O. Harris, M. Armstrong, Noah Perkins, George W. W. Blake, Capt. Cogswell, and Judge Evans, with S. B. Bradford, T. B. Farrell and H. S. Barton, of the Jeffersonian club, received Gen. Black at the stage.

The evening opened with a beautiful quartette piece, Collin Coe's "Rowing Swiftly Down the Stream," by the Sylviens, who, being rapturously encircled, responded with Jungst's "Spin-Spin."

Jas. H. Eckels, with a few appropriate words relative to the occasion, introduced

GEN. JOHN C. BLACK.

General Black prefaced his remarks with a very interesting description of the condition of Europe at the time of the birth of Jefferson. The governments were splendid and the armies great, but the common people were in the hands of armed tax-gatherers, who levied without regard to justice, so long as the chateaux and palaces of the lords and princes reared their battlements above the hovels of the oppressed. But then, on this continent, was a theatre upon which the destiny of the human race was being enacted.

With the story of the struggle and glory of the men of the revolution, it was not his purpose to dwell. It will shine with the brightness of the stars forever. It will be taught to ceaseless generations, while our schools are open to our children's children. It will only be forgotten after they are closed. And if some archeologist, in the infinite future, arrives by Macaulay's New Zealand route, shall search among our ashes and our tombs for the traces of our greatness and our freedom, he will find our noblest and latest monuments in the widespread public schools and even on their corner-stones the laurel commemorating the founders of our nation.

Among all the glittering great of that period the brightest star was Thomas Jefferson. Providence had raised him up as one peculiarly fitted to her needs. Jefferson, as a boy, the son of a frontiersman, was not different from the sons of other men. He was rough and uncouth, but in years his matchless intellect developed him into the polished and gifted scholar, statesman and diplomat. All his life long he touched the people. As age grew upon him his life and his home were at the service of his country.

He was refused an audience by a king, but his Declaration of Independence was the doom of all kings, the death knell of monarchy. He has been called a demagogue, but if he was a demagogue then the race is more glorious for the living of all demagogues. He never saw a squadron in the field. He was the trained, accomplished diplomat, and yet, when the sword shall have rusted in its scabbard, the name of Jefferson will crown the pinnacle of the great of the world. He knew the needs of the common people. He sent out the expedition of Lewis and Clark and as a result of their discoveries the Pacific railroad was projected. He purchased Louisiana for the United States from Napoleon just as a great French empire was proposed to be placed west of the Mississippi. His influence forever abolished slavery in the great North-west.

When the Revolution was at an end Hamilton and his following attempted to set up a semi-monarchical government. They advocated a splendid court and heavy taxation for its support. Such a government was established and endured until Jefferson's administration was ushered in. He reduced taxation and advocated a tariff for revenue only. He believed in the lowest possible taxation, and in the rule of the majority. His administration was simple, plain and unostentatious; a government near to the people.

Gen. Black spoke of the inequalities of the present robber tariff system; the increase of the farm mortgages as a consequence of the farmers being forced to compete with the world in sales while all that he purchased was heavily taxed to support the lumber barons, the iron kings and the trusts. Meanwhile woolen mills and shipyards were closed and the village smith with his forge had disappeared. All is concentrated in the great factories of the trusts, while the people grow poorer as the months roll on. The treasury accumulates a surplus which should be the property of the people.

Under the rule of Jefferson about 250 articles paid the tax, now 4,000 pay toll. The Democracy proposes to apply the principles of Jefferson when it again comes into control. The wool raised in South America shall be made into clothing here for the world. The whole tariff list will be treated in the same kindly way.

While we pay this tariff palaces are being built on the other side. Let any man build a palace by his own genius and his own opportunity, but let no man use the laws of America to take the labor of millions to give the palaces to the few.

Gen. Black closed with a fine peroration, describing a visit to Yellowstone Park.

The evening closed with "Annie Laurie" by the Sylviens.

THE RECEPTION.

Immediately after the close of the lecture a reception was given in honor of Gen. and Mrs. Black at the Clifton hotel parlors. Mrs. Black received, assisted by Mesdames Reed, Eckels, Hapeman, Evans and Richardson, and Miss Reed. The parlors were comfortably filled with people during a pleasant half hour.

The farmers about Colfax, McLean county, are suffering from an extraordinary invasion of rats. They swarm over the stacks, granaries and outbuildings and even invade residences. The war of extermination waged upon them has thus far apparently failed to diminish their numbers.

Talk About Salaries.

The Streator Free Press some days ago suggested not only the propriety but the duty of La Salle county of paying its officers better salaries. Low salaries generally mean cheap men, while fair salaries will give the county the kind of men she ought to have in her offices from clerks to judges.

The county has been very fortunate in the past in securing a much better class of men than the salaries paid really called for, but it is certain, just the same, that the salaries are considerably lower than they ought to be. Both judges and clerks are supposed generally to do no other professional work than their official duties; yet there is hardly a man in the court house to-day, with a family of any size to support, who can do that and save any money out of his salary.

The men, for example, who ought to sit on the bench of the Probate or County court cannot, as a rule, afford to give up a practice worth as much as or more than the salary paid (and only a man who is able to earn that much as a lawyer ought to be in these places) to serve the county for a salary of only $2,400 a year.

As a judge cannot save money at that rate, and the acceptance of a judgeship means practically a loss of his practice, the judge at the end of four years must, if not re-elected, begin his career as a practitioner all over again, and in the end really pays handsomely in cash for the mere "handle" of Judge before his name which is his only reward.

It has come indeed to that pass among practical politicians on both sides, who do more or less of the preliminary "figuring" to look for judicial candidates among lawyers who are supposed to be well enough "fixed" financially to have an income outside of the salary of the office in order to live comfortably.

This is hardly fair, and as at present the names being tossed about for the judicial offices indicate that both parties will present very able men as candidates, the county should be as liberal in the way of salaries as the circumstances will permit. The taxpayers may then, if they see fit, demand of the officials elected their entire time in county service; but as the case stands at present, a county or probate judge is expected to do some law business—a sort of perfectly legitimate, and in matters that cannot in any event come under his own jurisdiction as judge—to earn money enough to live on decently.

The Streator Ind. Times, combatting a proposition to increase the pay of our judges and county officers, makes this astounding statement: "Larry Morrissey has been sheriff of La Salle county a little over three years and out of the emoluments of the office and what he made before when he bore aloft triumphantly the American flag over the ramparts of Fort McAllister a quarter of a century ago, he has been able to purchase a lot in Chicago on a corner that is worth, or will be worth, $100,000 for a lively stable." Great Scott! you don't say so! And all this time, while the sheriff's office, perquisites included, was not supposed to be yielding over $2,500 out of which the sheriff and family had to live, how he must have been stealing! And not even Doc Norton, with his keen scent, have a suspicion of it! But the truth is that the Ind. Times is building on air. Thos. Cassidy and Mr. Morrissey, it is understood, have lately made a moderate investment in some lively stable property in Chicago, but to talk of hundreds of thousands in such connection won't even pass for a joke.

For a notable example of willful, malicious lying, with a despicable personal motive behind it, one would have to go a long way before finding one equal to Rose's screed of Sunday attacking Mr. Jas. H. Eckels. If it had not been known by every man, woman or child in Ottawa that Mr. Eckels opposed the nomination of Mr. Crook, preferring to have the convention pass the nomination entirely rather than accept Mr. Crook, the lie would not be so glaring, however contemptible. Its utterance, however, simply shows the barefacedness of this fellow to deliberately and maliciously mislead the public in order to gratify his own malice. As a malicious, contemptible liar, as in this very matter he yesterday confessed himself to be to Mr. Hunt, when he said to Mr. H. he intended to make Mr. Eckels as disreputable as possible, and as the defender of gamblers, unprovoked assaults on peaceable citizens, this fellow Rose need only now insert a few lines of bawdy house slang and a salacious story and he will have reproduced his infamous Rose's Nose and placed himself in proper form for another indictment for sending obscene matter through the mails for the benefit of Ottawa's boom and his advertisers.

Don't Whip a Sick Horse, M. P.

Nor take Cathartic Pills when your bowels or liver are sluggish. They are whips. But try once at least—Miles' Nervine and Liver Pills. They act through the nerves.

On Sunday, as a party of six were on a hand car going from Ticona to Gary, on the I. V. & N., to attend church, a train was seen approaching them at a rapid rate, and the people on the hand car jumped off and saved themselves, all but one, the wife of William Mischke, who alighted on the track and was instantly killed, her husband in trying to save her being seriously injured. The body of the woman was taken to Earlville for burial.

Deserving Confidence.

It is quite surprising to notice the numerous reports of remarkable cases of nervous diseases cured, such as headache, fits, nervous prostration, heart affections, St. Vitus Dance, insanity and prolonged sleeplessness by Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. This new and improved brain and nerve food, and medicine, is everywhere gaining a remarkable reputation for curing the worst of these diseases, as well as the injurious effects of worry, nervous irritation, mental and physical overwork.

E. Y. Griggs, the druggist, will give away trial bottles of this wonderful remedy. It positively contains no opium or morphine.

THE BASE BALL FIELD.

Players Arriving Daily—News and Notes of the League.

Ottawa opens the season on May 1st and 2nd with Dubuque, playing at home until the 10th and meeting Ottumwa, Cedar Rapids, and Monmouth for two games each in the order given. The club then goes to Monmouth for the 10th and 12th, plays in Ottumwa on the 13th and 14th, in Dubuque the 15th and 16th, and then comes home for two games each with Aurora, Joliet and Sterling. This winds up her home playing for May.

The players are arriving rapidly and will all be here by the end of the week. In the meantime, Manager Dallas is working the eight men who are here at the Driving Park every day, and their well knit figures look strong and athletic enough to win several pennants. The black suits are handsome and give the nine a fine appearance.

THE TEAM.

Ottawa's place in the Illinois-Iowa League is no longer a conjecture, for she will win the pennant, for the reason that the men signed are equal to, if not better, than any in the Interstate League, and do not fall far behind the men in the Western League, composing such cities as Denver, Milwaukee and Omaha.

The reason for this is that Manager Dallas, who organized the Southern League in '87, and knows nearly every ball player in the country, made his arrangements for players long before he signed as Ottawa's manager, and had each man located.

The Southern League went to pieces last year, and all the men who had been developed in '87, '88 and '89 were thrown out of work this season. Of these, Manager Dallas was practically given his pick, and several men who lead in their positions and who are acknowledged to be ball players, are in the Ottawa team.

The batteries are C. N. Smith and Geo. J. Briggs, pitchers; and J. E. Dallas and Leon Colter, catchers. Ottawa knows who Dallas is. Briggs was invited to join the Chicago League Club because he made a record without a blemish in '89 with Appleton, Wis., but unfortunately for Chicago, Manager Dallas had signed him. Smith is a daisy and was wanted by Pittsburgh on account of his work at Elkhart, Ind. Colter played in the Michigan State League last year and made a splendid record.

Jas. Hillery, Billy Geiss and Nig. Burgine will fill the bases. Burgine made a record of 900 in '88 in Peoria and in '89 he managed the Fort Madison team. He plays third and is a hummer. Geiss was with New Orleans in '87 with a fielding average of 912 and a 280 batting average. He holds down second bag. Hillery sits on first base with a fielding average of 944 and a 312 batting average in Birmingham, Southern League, in '88. Joe Boisselin, Joe Wright and John Dawson will eat balls in the field and cut off home runs at the plate. Every body knows Boisselin, and he plays right field. Wright lead the center fielders in the west last year and is one of the best fielders and batters who ever donned a uniform. He holds down center field. Dawson played with the Whittings at Chicago last year and is a blue jay from Indigoville. He fills left field. Manager Dallas has a good stop in mind and will have him signed in a day or two.

The Joliet base ball club, says the News, has signed a manager, in the person of James J. Donnelly, of Ohio. He comes highly recommended as a player of great ability and experience, and from the investigations made by the local officers, it is believed the club has secured a competent leader.

Mr. Donnelly has been manager of the Zanesville, Ohio, club for several seasons, and has been interested in bringing to the front such players as Gumbert, the Chicago pitcher, and other league players. He is a pleasant, agreeable gentleman, light in stature, but possessing evidences of agility and keen judgment—features so essential in good ball players. Mr. Donnelly will be both manager and captain of the Joliet team and will play either first base or in the field.

The list of players, as signed, will be carefully revised by the new manager, and the regular club selected from those only who possess the necessary qualifications and meet the approval of the manager.

Literary Notes.

The April Scribner has been out some time, but it is so excellent in every way that it deserves to be called to the attention of magazine readers who may not have seen it. In the first place the mechanical beauty of Scribner is constantly forcing itself upon one's attention. Its letter-press, paper and especially its illustrations are exceptionally fine, and the illustrations certainly are the finest that appear in any of the monthlies. In the April number, the illustrated articles, "Tadmore in the Wilderness," "The Electric Railway of To-day," "Foot-prints of Charles Lamb," are specially fine. "The Rights of the Citizen" is an important series of practical utility which will continue through several series and promise to be of great value in defining for common people their legal rights as citizens without the encumbrance of legal verbiage. An announcement is made that in the June numbers (probably) Mr. Harry M. Stanley will describe some of the experiences of his African journey for the relief of Emin Pasha. Mr. Stanley will write for no other periodical; and this article will be illustrated from photographs and sketches.

The Forum company has just issued Forum Extra, No. 2, combining under one cover two articles. "The Owners of the U. S." by Thos. G. Shearman, and "The Haste to be Rich," by Rev. H. Crosby, which appeared in the Forum in 1888 and 1889. Price 5c. by mail.

"Sumptuary Laws and their Social Influence" will be discussed by Dr. William A. Hammond, in the Popular Science Monthly for May. Dr. Hammond shows the absurd failures of laws against fine dress, costly food, in Rome, France, Turkey, and England, and against the selling and drinking of alcoholic liquors in some of the United States.

Herbert Spencer has decided to publish the opening chapters of one of the uncompleted parts of his system of philosophy, dealing with morality. Three of these chapters, treating respectively of "Animal Ethics," "Sub-human Justice," and "Human Justice," will be printed in the May Popular Science Monthly under the general title On Justice.

A few days ago the Chicago Journal had this item: "Several gentlemen were interested in the development of Streator, Ill., where they own about 1000 acres, held private meeting at the Pacific Hotel this morning, the object of which was to offer manufacturers and business men cheap land and the putting in of coal at 35 cents per ton." The Streator papers publish the item but offer no explanation. The gentlemen were doubtless representatives of the St. Paul syndicate that lately made large land purchases near Streator, upon which the talk was huge iron works, &c., were to be built.

Congressman Hill has notified Mayor Kelly of Joliet that he has caused the Joliet public library to be selected as a depository of public documents, under a law of congress that requires one such depository in each congressional district. The deposit will amount to two or three hundred ponderous volumes a year of the dearest imaginable reading matter, though valuable for reference. The books, however, will make a big show in a small library, being bound in law sheep with nice gilt backing.

The village of Triumph in this county is rejoicing in a boom. It has raised the necessary amount to put up a creamery with sufficient capacity to take care of the milk of 600 to 1000 cows. It will also have a feed grinder connected with it. Then the town is to be enlarged by the erection of a number of new dwellings. "In fact," says a local correspondent of the Montana Bulletin, "our town is just booming, and the demand for houses to rent is much greater than the supply."

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise. A purer medicine doesn't exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the kidneys and the liver, will remove pimples, boils, salt rheum and other affections caused by impure blood. Will drive malaria from the system, and prevent as well as cure all malarial fevers. For cure of headache, constipation and indigestion, try Electric Bitters. Entire satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Prices 50c and $1 per bottle at D. Lorriaux' store.

There was a small blaze at Morris on Monday, in George Washburn's home. The fire was in a closet containing the family clothing—all the clothing of Mr. and Mrs. W. and their children, and was destroyed, says the Post, including a seal coat, valuable overcoat, and all the family wearing apparel. Though the fire did not extend beyond the closet, the remarkable thing about it still is that the loss did not amount to over $150.

Aurora raised in the last year $387,000 in bonuses: Rockford about the same amount; Chicago "blows in" five millions to get the world's fair and is in for at least five millions more. This is the way cities are built up in these days—in the west. The eastern manufacturers having persuaded congress to "protect" them out of the markets of the world must look for customers towards the setting sun, and as the said customers would rather manufacture their own wares than go east for them the manufacturers are coming to meet their customers and the cities that make them the most tempting offers get them.

Is Consumption Incurable.

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with abscess of lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an incurable consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; am now on my third bottle, and am able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, I would have died of lung troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in the best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at D. Lorriaux's drug store.

The open winter has not been without its compensations. On farms with blue grass pastures, says the Pontiac Free Trader, no hay or grain (in Livingston county) was fed to stock. R. M. John's stock on his farm near Cornell ran out all winter without feeding and look quite as well as stock should at this time of year.

The people of Millington, up the Fox river road, are suffering for want of a good reliable barber who will pay attention to his business. A good living is guaranteed to such an one, if he can be had.

Even little Lasant is rejoicing in a boomlet. Important building improvements, says the Tonica News, will be made there this season. Hope town in general also has a good prospect for a prosperous year in all departments of her varied industries.

While John Peterson, at Tonica, the News says, was loading a car with horses, one of them, a fine animal worth $200, after being switched on to the main track, was found dead in the car. The only explanation that could be offered was that the animal had died from fright at the unaccustomed motion of the cars.

The democratic ladies of Monmouth, in this state, have a Frances Cleveland club and appropriately celebrated the anniversary of Thomas Jefferson's birth day.
